Radical changes in force structure of Navy

2668. SHRI SOLIPETA RAMACHANDRA REDDY: Will the Minister of DEFENCE be pleased to state:

(a) whether the Navy has called for radical changes in its force structure to revitalise the force;

(b) if so, the action taken thereon;

(c) whether Naval force level has not been revitalised since 1964; and

(d) the number of submarines proposed to be added during the current year?

THE MINISTER OF DEFENCE (SHRI GEORGE FERNANDES): (a) to (d) It is not a fact that the Naval force level has not been revitalised since 1964. Over the years much mow sophisticated naval platforms have been inducted, on sea, underwater as well as in Naval aviation. The Naval fleet is continuously reviewed and upgradations made depending on threat perceptions and availability* of resources. It will not be in the interest of national security to divulge further specific information in this regard.
